The Story

The Secret Service Safe, boasts such a wealth of cunning camouflage, it merits a place in the Secret Service.

Ingenious locking mechanism

Its most outstanding feature is the apparent absence of keyholes which are surreptitiously concealed beneath decorative flowers, rendering its appearance both innocent yet impenetrable. The ingenious and complex locking mechanism is exceptionally rare and seldom produced. For added security in a company with joint partners, both would have had to be present with their own key before the unlocking techniques could be implemented.

When the elaborate vault-like door is opened, it breathes a deeply satisfied sigh as its airtight seal is released.

A Safe that has travelled the world

Made around 1885 by Richter & Heinz of Hamburg, Germany, it was exported from the seaport of its manufacture into Singapore by the Chinese company whose name appears on the ornamental brass plaque which reads phonetically 'Ji Mei Wei Li Qong Si'. An ornate crown with floral foliate scroll decoration adorns the top, flanked by brass columns on either side topped with finials in the style of Grecian urns. This majestic and unique safe would no doubt have served as a much revered and treasured possession.

Suited for fine drinking & smoking

The modern interior has been designed in American figured walnut as a humidified cigar and accessory cabinet complete with cocktail bar. Boxes of cigars can be placed in the humi-safe and loose cigars in the cedar-lined drawer. The drinks carousel swivels around for ease of access to wines and spirits. Smokers' requisites and bar accessories are available separately but have been fitted into designated compartments in the pull-out drawer which closes magnetically.

World-class humidifiers included

Diamond Crown humidifiers and hygrometer are included for your cigars to be kept in optimum condition.
